PROFILE

I'm a Frontend Developer with 3 years of hands-on experience in building responsive web, mobile, and desktop applications through freelance projects and self-driven work. Skilled in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and backend development with Node.js. Proficient in API integrations, database management, and deployment using platforms like Supabase, Firebase, and GitHub.

I bring a unique edge with a business-oriented mindset and strong client communication skills, enabling me to deliver real-world solutions that are both functional and user-focused. Adaptable, self-motivated, and committed to continuous learning in fast-paced environments. I am goal-driven, enthusiastic, and have engaged in multiple fields outside of my qualifications, encompassing real estate sales, information technology, and finance.
